11. (Currently Amended) A container, said container having a body portion with a closed bottom, a neck portion axially positioned above said body portion, said neck portion tapering inwardly as it extends away from said body portion, and a closure-receiving finish portion, said neck portion being positioned between said body portion and said finish portion, said container being adapted to a hold a large volume of a liquid, being formed in a single piece by molding from a thermoplastic material that has at least an innermost layer of PET, said container further having no opening extending laterally therethrough and having a gripping gripping feature formed by a spaced apart pair of axially extending, opposed gripping panels that extend into said container ~~and extend parallel to one another~~, the space (S) between said gripping panels being uniform in width along an a substantial axial length portion of said gripping feature and the space between gripping panels being no more than 2-1/2 in.;

wherein said body portion is generally circular in cross-section, and said gripping panels extend into said container in said neck portion; and said body portion has a diameter of at least 4-1/4 in.

12. (Original) A container according to claim 11, wherein:
said container has an internal capacity of at least 64 oz.

13. (Original) A container according to claim 12 wherein:
each of said gripping panels is concave in cross-section.

14. (Previously Amended) A container according to claim 13
wherein:

a ratio of the space between opposed gripping panels, as measured between depths of said gripping panels, to the major lateral extent of said container does not exceed 0.55.

15. (Original) A container according to claim 14 wherein said ratio is at least 0.35.

16. (Original) A container according to claim 15 wherein said ratio is approximately 0.41.
